DETAILED ACTION

REQUIREMENT FOR UNITY OF INVENTION

As provided in 37 CFR 1.475(a), a national stage application shall relate to one invention only or to a group of inventions so linked as to form a single general inventive concept ("requirement of unity of invention"). Where a group of inventions is claimed in a national stage application, the requirement of unity of invention shall be fulfilled only when there is a technical relationship among those inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features. The expression "special technical features" shall mean those technical features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art.

The determination whether a group of inventions is so linked as to form a single general inventive concept shall be made without regard to whether the inventions are claimed in separate claims or as alternatives within a single claim. See 37 CFR 1.475(e).

When Claims Are Directed to Multiple Categories of Inventions:

As provided in 37 CFR 1.475(b), a national stage application containing claims to different categories of invention will be considered to have unity of invention if the claims are drawn only to one of the following combinations of categories:

(1) A product and a process specially adapted for the manufacture of said product; or

(2) A product and process of use of said product; or

(3) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and a use of the said product; or

(4) A process and an apparatus or means specifically designed for carrying out the said process; or

(5) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and an apparatus or means specifically designed for carrying out the said process.

Otherwise, unity of invention might not be present. See 37 CFR 1.475(c).

Species Election

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows: the biocompatible polymer corresponding to general formula (I) and the indication which is being treated or prevented.

First Species Election Requirement

Applicant is required to elect a specific biocompatible polymer with values for A, X, Y and Z, if the presence of the presence of a functional chemical group different from X and Y capable of bestowing additional biological and chemical properties on the said polymers is required. Applicant does not need to elect specific values for a, x, and y.

Second Species Election Requirement

Applicant is required to elect a specific indication that is being treated or prevented in the method. Examples of acceptable species can be found in claims 12 – 17.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowed generic claim. Currently, the following claim(s) are generic: claims 1 – 17 are generic in regards to the polymer while claims 1 – 16 are generic to the indication being treated or prevented.

The chemical compounds of formula I are not regarded as being of similar nature because all of the alternatives do not share a common property or activity. Not all of the polymer defined by formula I will have a common property or effects and any one species of polymer will not be capable of preventing or treating all the various indications recited in the claims. The various indications have various causes and etiologies (e.g., remodeling of closed scars and and therefore do not
